

Jewelry Lobster Claw Clasp Replacement

How to replace a lobster claw clasp on a bracelet or necklace.

Written By: Keisha Valentín

INTRODUCTION

If the Lobster Claw Clasp on your necklace or bracelet is broken, missing, or needs to be replaced all together, this guide is for you.

The Lobster Claw Clasp is the piece that opens and hooks to the chain of your necklace or bracelet to keep it secure. A broken clasp will be unable to keep your necklace or bracelet closed and secure.

If the necklace or bracelet is already missing a clasp, skip Step 4.

Step 1 — Lobster Claw Clasp

- Verify that the chain has a large jump ring on the opposite side of where the clasp will be placed.

Step 2

- Find the jump ring holding the clasp.

Step 3

- Open this jump ring (the last one, which holds the clasp) with pliers.

Step 4

- Remove the broken clasp.

Step 5

- Place the new clasp on the jump ring.

Step 6

- Close the jump ring with pliers.

To reassemble your device, follow these instructions in reverse order.
